

Method

- Identify a set of social meanings relevant to this community through ethnographic interviews and an open-ended speech evaluation task.
- Measure listeners' ability to match these meanings to variation in the target vowels through a perception experiment.